

I can highly recommend Total Trauma Cleaning, the supporting 'Total Brand' companies and group Managing Director Jim Gildea, from both a personal and professional perspective.

Indeed, these specialist entities are inseparable, led by Jim Gildea's unwavering dedication and professionalism to each individual job and client, no matter how small or dangerous.

Jim and his team approach every cleaning, clearance, or disposal job with military precision, supported by the latest technology and equipment. This results in peerless levels of performance to deliver the groups specialist provisions, that TTC's competitors can only dream of.

This has attracted plaudits and customer satisfaction on unprecedented levels, indeed there has also been official recognition from organisations such as the Parliamentary Review – Best Practice Representative.

Total Trauma Cleaning have also been held as a beacon of light and hope during the current Covid-19 outbreak. Both the ITV and BBC networks have been eager to film Total Trauma Cleaning deliver the high level of cleaning and sanitisation required in the fight against the corona virus.

Stephen Murphy

Business Director

CopperTree Forensics